ProTrac's Bouquet - Stand Alone or as an Assembly

Bouquets can be sold as a one-time sale or you can use ProTrac's Assembly process for building a single bouquet multiple times for a customer or for a cooler display.

Using the ProTrac KIT process, you can set up a Large Wedding or Small Wedding Kit that would sell a set number of stems and supply items with one keystroke.
That Kit might include
Roses
Carnations
Runner for the Church Aisle
Any supplies that would accompany this kit

Building Bouquets

The ProTrac Kitting program is used to create bouquets for the floral wholesaler who has this as part of their operation.

For this example we have put together multiple items including stems, supply items, labor and a vase.

A bouquet can be changed at any time to reflect a new stem or customer request.

A Kit can also be put together for all of the stems and supply items that are used in Small or Large Weddings.

This is the regular Pick Ticket for this order. It is expecting that the designers will create the bouquet and place it as a part of this order.
At this time the inventory for the bouquet and the rest of the order has been changed to reflect that these stems and products are being pulled for this order. Inventory would show:
The number on hand - less those being pulled - and it would show and the number still available to sell.

Assembly Orders and Bouquets

If you have a situation where you make several copies of a single bouquet, instead of creating a regular KIT, you would use our Assembly Program. You would tell ProTrac that you want to make 20 Premium Bouquets.

ProTrac would create a Bouquet Build Kit Pick Ticket and Pull, all of the inventory - into the assembly process. When completed the Assemblies would be put onto the shelf for resale. ProTrac would also move the cost of the inventory into the cost of the new bouquets.
